The Faculty of Management, part of the National School of Political Studies and Public Administration of Bucharest, assumes the role of properly preparing young people aspiring for a career in management structures of public and private organizations. All the activities at our faculty, starting from academic programs to applied projects, are permanently related to the economic and social context that we live in.

The Faculty of Management is a flexible structure that offers specific tools in order to help students in developing useful knowledge for the practice of management. The content of manager as a concept corresponds to several activities: giving tasks, leading a team, showing directions, taking decisions, explaining, influencing, integrating, clarifying, informing, improving etc.*

-- PhD Professor Ștefan Stanciu

The students of the Faculty of Management are both young persons that intend to pursue a career in management and professionals seeking to enhance theoretical knowledge for a better application in their present or future jobs.

Bachelor's degree is addressed to high school graduates and those who want to pursue a second specialization.

Graduate studies in management field prepare students for successful careers and the BA diploma offered by the Faculty of Management troughs an open door towards professions such as: entrepreneurial management, corporate management, project management, financial management, information management, statistical data processing, public administration etc.

” The study program, the exceptional professors, the rhythm of the debates, these are just a few of the arguments that position our faculty in the top of the best management institutions. The selection of courses is the result of extensive studies on the learning abilities of students and their trends over time. The professors that offer these courses are not only outstanding academics, but successful managers, with national and international recognition. Thus, educational process can only be an alert one, oriented towards valuable results, both on short, medium and long term..”

-- PhD Professor Alina Bârgăoanu

” Undoubtedly, the Faculty of Management will influence the Romanian business environment in the coming years. Our graduated students will have a solid knowledge on various fields that interfere with management practice. Moreover, at the end of three years of studies at the Faculty of Management, graduates will already be initiated into the practice of management itself. Our efforts aren't oriented towards the preparation of brilliant theorists, but of competent practitioners. These skills precisely will make a difference on the labor market.”

-- PhD Lecturer Florina Pinzaru

” The Faculty of Management grows in the same time with its students. Here, we have the opportunity to make a difference by expressing our opinions. It is often said that young people represent the future of a country. Here, at the Faculty of Management, professors give us all their support in order to start our own way. If you want to do it, why not try? If you can, why not do it? We live in the millennium of information, but just a few of us really know what is true and what is false. We need advisers and mentors. Our professors are more than simple people that teach us, they are the key elements in shaping us as real professionals.”

-- Larisa Mihaela Hogaș, Ist year undergraduate student
